Chinese Minister at Washington Wears Rich Raiment at Functions

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

CHANG, China's minister to the United States, is one of the most spectacular figures in Washington when he appears in his gorgeous raiment at state functions. Minister Chang is rather slight and is about five feet seven inches high. It will thus be seen that his size is not imposing and that he must rely on his garb to attract attention. His clothing does all this and more. The diplomat is fifty years old, but looks younger in spite of the air of a student that is habitual with him. Mr. Chang is avowedly a believer in the United States and in western civilization. His son recently was graduated from a Philadelphia law school, and his two daughters are finishing their education in Washington. The minister hopes to see American educational methods introduced in his own country.

A Warning Word, or An Eagle Scream

For some time we have thought of giving a word of advice along a certain line, thinking perhaps it would do some good and certainly no harm. From a moral, legal and illegal standpoint the editor of this paper has always been and is yet opposed to the selling and drinking of intoxicating liquors. He has no ill-will against the person or persons who either drink or sell, but he would rather have them do neither. The world is full of temptations—things that often lure us on to ruin. There is no temptation that is more inviting than the one to make easy money. Luxury is itself a captivating little scoundrel and will often lead a man where he would not otherwise go. But I want to come to the subject. I want to tell everybody how dangerous it is to dabble in any way with the unlawful sale of whisky. The time is here when the temptation to get around, slip around and handle a little moonshine whisky is a hundred times multiplied. There are a hundred thirsty throats here now to one a few years ago and in order to appease their thirst they will pay most any price. The parties who want to buy are strangers. Thus the temptations pile up. As the chances increase for the sale of whisky the more alert the officers will become. Our Deputy Collector, Mr. Collins, informs me that a great number of his friends, personal friends, are reported to be handling whisky or are acting like they might be. He says he does not want them to do it, would not have them do so for anything, but in case that they do and he can find it out they will certainly be handled. No man should place himself in position to get into trouble and when he does he should respect the officer who goes after him in the discharge of his duty. Any sensible person ought to know without being told how dangerous it is to sell whisky unlawfully. When a man does it he sets a trap that will catch him nine times out of ten. Seriously on our part, it hurts us to see our friends get caught in the net and have to pay out hard earned money or languish many months in prison, sway from home and friends, and that, too, for selling or making a few dollars' worth of moonshine. Don't say you "are from Missouri and have to be shown," but get wise. The Eagle wants everybody to do right and will bend every energy to get them to do so and it doesn't want any of its friends to have the very least to do in this illicit business. We sound this warning and hope it will have its effect. If you spurn it, when you get caught remember we tried to warn you.

Some Capital Gossip

Washington D.C., Mar. 31
Editor Eagle,

The Congressional party, including Senator Bradley and Representative Langley, has returned from a visit to Panama. They report satisfactory progress on the canal. Some rough weather was encountered during the voyage. The party was badly shaken up. Mrs. Langley received injuries from which she is still suffering. It is now estimated that ships will be passing through the canal within two years. Most of the heavy work has been completed.

The Committee on Committees of the House has put in the time to such purpose that committees will be announced early in the extra session. The new system now will prevent confusion in the matter of reorganizing the House, but bitterness over chairmanships is already said to have cropped out in several places. Crapping the Committee on Rules has been the hardest task.

According to the best information to be had in advance, Reciprocity will pass the House early in the session. There is no disposition to delay possible tariff legislation. With Reciprocity out of the way, revision of the tariff schedules will be promptly taken up.

The fight over Reciprocity will be made, as before, in the Senate. In that body the contest may be prolonged, but there is little doubt that it will eventually pass. Inaugural Senators are said to be prepared with long speeches. They are not all for the bill, though it embodies the policies they have been fighting for a long time.

There will be a great struggle when the woolen schedules are reached in the House. The strongest emphasis has been laid by the Democrats on the necessity of revising these schedules at once. General tariff revision will depend largely on what is done with the woolen schedules. Mountaineer.

Very Interesting Letter

Keokee, Va., March 27
Dear Editor,

I read with pleasure the article of last week written by Mrs. S.S. Cassity. I witness what she says to be even more than she expresses about the kindness and courtesy of the mountain people of Eastern Kentucky.

I was born in 1844 and all this time have lived on the border line between Lee county, Va., and Harlan county, Ky. During the Civil War I took shelter in Eastern Kentucky and was never better treated even by my father and mother. I lived on Redbird, at the mouth of Big Creek in Clay county, during the winter of 1865, and was treated kindly by those good people.

Since then I have traveled over this beautiful country attending the Old School Baptist Associations by Sandlick, Mountain, Red River, Union, Powels Valley and Redbird. I have been in Perry, Letcher, Bell, Breathitt, Lee, Clay and Letcher counties. Everywhere I was met with a warm welcome; indeed, I am unable to command language to express my feelings in thanking them for the friendship shown and courtesies extended. I am thanking the great God of the universe for His blessings now being extended to these good Christian people in putting in the minds of the vastly rich railroad syndicate the idea of building a railroad into this section.

This will open up a way to develop this great area of coal, salt, oils, and other minerals underlying same. The rich fertile valleys and hillsides are excellent for farming and stock raising and the mountains are covered with fine marketable timber. We cannot use figures to estimate the vast wealth this country carries.

The L. & N. and L. & E. railroads are just entering this region of untold wealth. We can hear the echoes of the great blasts that shake up these great mountains as the grading for the railroads progresses. The hum of industry and improvement is heard on every hand. Tho high and lofty One that inhabits eternity is behind all this beyond a doubt. Great corporations and moneyed interests are not afraid to invest their capital in our natural resources.

"God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform, He plants His feet upon the Sea and rides upon the Storm."

Extending to those dear people my heartfelt thanks for past courtesies, I remain,

Yours fraternally,
J. K. P. Legg.

Three Young Men Destined to Wear Crowns and Govern Nations

Prince Frederick William of Germany.
Prince George of Saxony.

Prince Alexander of Serbia.

HERE are three young men destined by nature to rule kingdoms at some time in the future unless revolutions or other causes prevent. One of them is Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany, and his chance of being Kaiser some day is excellent, much better than the prospects of the other young men pictured above. For instance, Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia has not much of a throne to sit on, and it is rather unstable—so unstable, in fact, that Alexander's elder brother, George, renounced his right to it two years ago and let his younger brother take the title of crown prince and the dangers that go with it. His father, Peter I, has had trouble ever since he was declared king in 1903, after the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga. He is only a few generations removed from a peasant who led a successful insurrection against Turkey in 1804 and thus made himself a king. Crown Prince George of Saxony is of a much older family. He is related by ties of blood to the royal families of Great Britain, Prussia, Portugal, Belgium, Bulgaria and several of the kingdoms that help make up the German empire. But his father's throne is not secure, and for a time after he became king in 1904 it was extremely precarious. The elopement of his consort, the Princess Louise, with a music teacher a year before he ascended the throne caused friction between the people and the crown that has not been smoothed over.

At last and after a struggle lasting nearly three months, the Democrats of New York got together and elected Judge O'Gorman to the United States Senate, succeeding Senator Depew.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts. He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and cleans, healthy flesh. It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate and started home. Appearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, he began to use it. "I believe it saved my life," he writes "for it made a new man of me, so that I can now do good work again." For all lung diseases, coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, whooping cough, hay fever, hemorrhages, hoarseness or quinsy, it's the best remedy known. Price 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free. Dangerously Shot

Early Saturday morning news of the shooting of Otto Hartt by his step-son, Burnett Ison, was flashed over the wires. The shooting took place at the residence of Mr. Hartt on Rockhouse at the mouth of Garner branch and seems to have been the result of a family row engaged in by Mrs. Hartt and some of her children on one side and her husband on the other. Details of how the shooting took place are so conflicting we conclude not to publish them. Drs. Fitzpatrick and Venters were called and rushed hurriedly to the scene accompanied by County Attorney Monroe Fields. They found the man shot with a 22-caliber rifle the ball having entered just below the naval and a little to the right ranging toward the backbone. It was decided that there was a bare chance of saving the man by performing an operation. So in about nine hours after the shot war fired this was done. They found one of the intestines only cut by the bullet. This was closed and after the great quantity of blood was taken out the man was revived. Officers arrested Mrs. Polly Hartt and her son Burnett charging them with the crime and brought them to this place where they are now awaiting investigation which will be held to pay. The boy who did the shooting is only about fifteen and is small of his age. Otto Hartt belongs to one of our best families, being a son of the late Hugh Hartt of Colly. The Isons are also one of our best families. Some years ago Otto Hartt married the widow of the late James Ison. She is a daughter of Uncle Jim Cornett of Line Fork.

At the time of going to press, two o'clock Wednesday evening, a phone message says that Otto Hartt is doing fairly well.

Steel Ski Hill In Wisconsin Towers Into the Air 118 Feet

AMERICANS are beginning to show almost as much interest in ski tournaments as is shown in Norway, from whence the sport comes. Already there are six "ski hills" in this country, the longest and finest having just been dedicated at Stoughton, Wis. This "hill" is really an incline supported on steel towers. The platform at the extreme top is 118 feet from the ground, and the slide drops at a steep incline a distance of 207 feet to the "bump" or jumping place, which is fifteen feet above the ground. The platform is seventeen feet higher than any other ski hill ever constructed, and the slide is also steeper than any other in existence. The jumpers who have the temerity to slide down this icy incline will attain a speed of seventy or eighty miles an hour, and after leaving the "bump" will fly 140 or 150 feet through the air to land in a pile of soft snow. The American record for a jump is 140 feet, while the Norway record is 168 feet. The cut shows the new hill at Stoughton with a ski jumper in flight in the corner.

Red Headed Okapi, Related to The Giraffe, Coming to America

VISITORS to the Museum of Natural History in New York will soon have an opportunity of looking at specimens of the okapi, an animal so rare that hunters who have visited its native haunts in the Kongo have not seen it. Even Henry M. Stanley, who first heard of the beast, was unable to get sight of one, though he spent years in African jungle. The natives told him about the "red headed horse" that had a body like a giraffe's and the legs of a zebra. When Stanley returned to civilization he published these stories and caused considerable excitement among scientists and naturalists. Sir Harry Johnston went to Africa in 1901 for the London Zoological society and spent many months in the Kongo region. He was unable to get sight of the okapi, but he brought a portion of a skin and two skulls from natives. He later made another trip to Africa and saw one of the animals alive, though he was unable to kill or capture it. He made such an accurate description of it, however, that he gave his name to the animal. Two years ago the New York Museum of Natural History sent an expedition to the Kongo, and a cablegram has just been received saying that specimens of the male, the female and the calf okapi have been killed and the skins and skeletons shipped to New York. Trees and shrubs have also been shipped, and the animals will be mounted in a lifelike manner and will be shown as they appear in their native jungle.

The Secret of Youth

Do you ever wonder how you can remain young, or why other women older than you, look younger than you do? The secret can be put in a few words: "Preserve your health, and you will preserve your youth." By "health" we mean not alone physical health, but nerve health, as, sometimes, magnificently strong-looking women are nervous wrecks. But whether you are weak physically or nervously, you need a tonic, and the best tonic for you is Cardui. It builds strength for the physical and nervous systems. It helps put flesh on your bones and vitality into your nerves.

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"My mother," writes Mrs. Z. L. Adcock, of Smithville, Tenn., "is 44 years old and is passing through the change of life. She was irregular and bloated and suffered terribly. My father stepped over to the store and got her a bottle of Cardui, which she took according to directions and now she is up, able to do her housework and says she feels like a new woman." Try Cardui in your own case.

Bronze Bust Shows Carnegie In Rector of University Robes

Copyright by J. Massey Rhind.

ANDREW CARNEGIE in bronze—that is, J. Massey Rhind, the well known New York sculptor, has modeled the ironmaster in clay and replicas have been cast in bronze. Mr. Rhind had a number of sittings before the bust was completed, and when it was finished the result was highly pleasing to Mr. Carnegie and his friends. They called it a perfect likeness, and the cut printed above shows that it possesses much character. Mr. Carnegie is shown in the robes of the lord rector of St. Andrews university, Scotland, he being the first American who ever held that honored office. Admirers of Mr. Carnegie have bought copies of the bust and have presented them to libraries which have been given to schools and municipalities by the philanthropist. The bust is preferred by many to a painting as being at the same time more lifelike and more enduring.

Painting on Grain of Corn.
The smallest painting known was done by a Flemish artist on the smooth side of a grain of common white corn. It represents a mill on a terrace, the miller mounting the stairs with a sack of grain on his back, a horse and cart standing near, and a group of peasants in the road at a little distance.
